In Re: Removal of Lower Snake River Dams

As an environmental advocate I am opposed to the removal of the dams on the Snake River. I think every power-generating alternative will cause more harm to the environment than the current dams. I also think the removal of barge shipping will create alternate traffic problems, and cause more degradation to the environment by the burning of fossil fuels in a less efficient manner than traditional shipping.

Please consider carefully all the possible unintended consequences. Can you imagine the waste involved if future generations decide that the dams really were the best alternative? Are they going to rebuild them at a cost of billions?

Sincerely,
